Green Dot looking forward to NPE 2015

The plastic industry's largest tradeshow is fast approaching and Green Dot is happy to announce that it will be hosting a booth at NPE 2015: The International Plastics Showcase, this March 23-27 in Orlando, Florida.

Green Dot will be showcasing its full line of bioplastics and biocomposites at booth S19200 in the Sustainability Pavilion in the South Hall of Orlando's Orange County Convention Center.

Some of the products to be featured at booth S19200 include:

- Starch composites
- Wood composites
- Biodegradable starch composite materials
- Elastomeric materials

We also hope you attend the Zero Waste Fashion Show on Monday, March 23 at 8:15 a.m. in the Main Pavilion. The show will feature fashions from the Savannah College of Art and Design and pieces made from Green Dot's own compostable synthetic leather.

Green Dot is a full-service bioplastic and biocomposite manufacturer based in Cottonwood

Falls, Kansas. We are committed to meeting the growing demand for biobased and compostable materials that lessen the impact of manufactured goods on the environment.

NPE 2015 is presented by the Society of Plastics Industry trade association. For more than 75 years it has been regarded as the leading trade show in the plastics industry, bringing together organizations and companies from every sector of the industry and its verticals. More than 100,000 professionals and 2,000 exhibitors are expected to be in attendance for NPE 2015.

If you're already planning on attending NPE 2015, or are considering it, contact our office to see about receiving a free floor pass valued at over $200.
